OU Notebook: Wilson responds to criticism

Wednesday, 07 October 2009 08:23

(by Guerin Emig) Oklahoma offensive coordinator Kevin Wilson became the unofficial fall guy for Saturday night's loss at Miami, at least in the minds of many Sooner fans. Tuesday, he got his chance to address the notion he gameplanned too conservatively...

"I tried to put our guys in places to win, (and) we had a chance. We got a little curveball there with Ryan's deal (Ryan Broyles' shoulder injury), (so) we had a few things we couldn't get to....read more from the Tulsa World

OU football notebook: Bob Stoops on the defensive again

Wednesday, 07 October 2009 00:05

(by David Ubben) Bob Stoops went out of his way to defend offensive coordinator Kevin Wilson on Monday, but he also made note of a statistic lost in the Sooners' second loss of the season: total yardage.

"Miami had a very successful offense, right? That's what everyone's talking about," Stoops said. "Well, we had the same yardage in every which way and we're one point short, right? So in the end, it's funny how one is horrible and the other is awfully good."....read more from The Oklahoman

Lost Ogle Q & A: Brian Bosworth

Tuesday, 06 October 2009 23:51

(by Patrick) Today I get to publish a little interview with former OU superstar Brian Bosworth. This is special. As an OU fan growing up in the 1980s, it was a requirement for me to be a fan of this guy. I remember playing little league football and all the kids wanting to be #44....read more from The Lost Ogle

Oklahoma vs. Baylor preview

Tuesday, 06 October 2009 23:41

Regardless of who's under center, Oklahoma must find a way to salvage its season. Facing Baylor could be a start.

The 19th-ranked Sooners look to bounce back from another loss while trying to continue their dominance over visiting Baylor in this Big 12 opener Saturday.
