

Combat Camera Weekly

AFGHANISTAN EDITION: December 3, 2010

“We have A Rendezvous...

...With Destiny!”

FOR PUBLIC RELEASE

For media queries contact RC-E Public Affairs at cjtf101jocpao@afghan.swa.army.mil
Visit us at <http://cjtf101.com> for more information and images on our mission in Afghanistan

An Afghan National Army soldier raises a barrier at the front gate of FOB Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. Afghan National soldiers are taking an active role to secure the stability and freedom of their country. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

A billboard in the center of Ghazni City promotes the security and stability of Afghanistan, Oct. 20, 2010.

An Afghan boy sits at a shop in Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

Lt. Col. Bill Gormley, with Task Force White Eagle, talks to the local children in Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. Children are more than happy to talk with coalition forces patrolling the streets. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

Sgt. 1st Class Ryan Perez, TF White Eagle, shakes hands with a local citizen in Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. Coalition forces are assisting Afghan forces as they take a more active role to secure the stability and freedom of the country. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

A Polish soldier provides dismounted security for a coalition patrol in Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. Coalition forces are assisting Afghan forces as they take a more active role to secure the stability and freedom of the country. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

Four Afghan children watch as coalition forces patrol the city of Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

Law Enforcement Professional Nick Denu pulls security while waiting for a controlled detonation of an Improvised Explosive Device in Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. Coalition forces are assisting Afghan forces as they take a more active role to secure the stability and freedom of the country. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

An Afghan National Army soldier stands in the back of a pick up truck while on patrol in Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. Afghan National Army soldiers are taking a more active role to secure the stability and freedom of their country. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

An Afghan Uniformed Police (AUP) officer shakes hands with an interpreter after successfully completing his mission in Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. Afghan National soldiers and AUP are taking active roles to secure the stability and freedom of the country. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

A Polish Soldier sits in the turret of a Mine Resistant Ambush Protected vehicle while on patrol in Ghazni, Afghanistan, Nov. 26, 2010. Coalition forces are assisting Afghan forces as they take a more active role to secure the stability and freedom of the country. (U.S. Army photo by Sgt. Justin Howe/Released)

Local Afghan contractors use a cement mixer to finish constructing a stone wall that surrounds the new Operational Coordination Center-Provincial (OCC-P) in Charikar, Parwan Province, Afghanistan, Nov. 27, 2010. The OCC-P is occupied by the Afghan National Army and Coalition forces. (U.S. Army photo by Spc. Kristina Gupton/Released)

U.S. Army Sgt. Christopher Gosch a resident of Sioux City, Iowa, Delta Company, 334 Brigade Support Battalion, uses a forklift to unload supplies from the Heavy Expanded Mobility Tactical Truck in Jabal Saraj District, Parwan Province, Afghanistan, Nov. 27, 2010. Delta Co. is bringing water and wood to the Joint Combat Out Post so they can continue to upgrade the base where they will be permanently moving. (U.S. Army photo by Spc. Kristina Gupton/Released)

U.S. Army Soldiers with 4th Brigade, 10th Mountain Division, talk to children at the Powark Girls' School re-opening in Logar province, Afghanistan, Nov. 27, 2010 (U.S. Army photo by Pfc. Donald Watkins/Released)

An Afghan National Army soldier pulls guard next to two U.S. Army Soldiers with 4th Brigade, 10th Mountain Division, Infantry Brigade Combat Team in Powark, Logar Province, Afghanistan, Nov. 27, 2010 (U.S. Army photo by Pfc. Donald Watkins/Released)

U.S. Army Maj. Bobbie Mayes, a resident of Lawrenceberg, Ky., and the Women's Empowerment Coordinator-Kentucky Agribusiness Development Team (KY ADT), greets one of the teachers from the Agency for Building a New Afghanistan during a visit to the Kapisa Directors of Women's Affairs (DOWA) in Kapisa Province, Afghanistan, Nov. 30, 2010. Mayes and members with the KY ADT visit the DOWA to attend the poultry graduation after twenty-five widows finished a five-day class on how to raise and sell chickens. (U.S. Army photo by Spc. Kristina Gupton/Released)

U.S. Army Maj. Bobbie Mayes, a resident of Lawrenceburg, Ky., and the Women's Empowerment Coordinator-Kentucky Agribusiness Development Team, congratulates the graduating class for all their hard work in Kapisa Province, Afghanistan, Nov. 30, 2010. Twenty-five widows attended a five-day class on how to raise and sell chickens. The graduates will receive nine hens and one rooster to help jump start their business. (U.S. Army photo by Spc. Kristina Gupton/Released)

A local Afghan man helps a recent graduate of the Department of Women's Affairs' poultry course take home the nine hens and one rooster she was given upon graduation in Kapisa Province, Afghanistan, Nov. 30, 2010. Twenty-five widows attended the five-day course, where they were taught how to raise chickens so they can sell the eggs and chickens. (U.S. Army photo by Spc. Kristina Gupton/Released)

Local farmers attend a shura hosted by the Nevada Agribusiness Development Team, 4th Brigade, 10th Mountain Division, which informed the farmers on how bee keeping can help them yield better crops, Pul-E Alam, Logar province, Afghanistan, Dec. 2, 2010. (U.S. Army photo by Pfc. Donald Watkins/Released)

A local farmer tells other farmers how bee keeping is beneficial to crop yields at a shura hosted by Nevada Agribusiness Development Team, 4th Brigade, 10th Mountain Division in Pul-E Alam, Logar Province, Afghanistan, Dec. 2, 2010. (U.S. Army photo by Pfc. Donald Watkins/Released)

FOR MORE COMBAT CAMERA IMAGERY, PLEASE VISIT

<http://dvidshub.net/units/jcca>

<http://defenseimagery.mil>

dvids

