REACHING FOR THE SKY — Private First Class Burt LeBlanc, Company F, 2d Battalion, Third Marines, scales the rope at the obstacle course as part of his training for the upcoming rifle squad competition. The Fox Company squad, led by Sergeant Ray Jones, was selected last week to represent the battalion in the Regimental competition which begins Apr. 12.

Squads are being selected today to represent 1st Battalion, Third Marines and 3d Battalion, Third Marines. The best of the three will represent the Regiment at Quantico and vie for title of "Best in the Corps" in June. The 3d Squad, Third Platoon, Co. "C", 1st Bn., Third Marines earned top honors in last year's competition. (Photo by Cpl. Albert Wilson)

Viewpoint:

Has the military prepared you for a civilian job?

PFC KEITH BENNETT
106 PLATOON
No, the only way I could put my military skill to use in the civilian community is by working in a place where they make antitank or artillery weapons.

LCPL DERRICK TOLBERT
MILITARY POLICE
Yes, when I get out of the service I plan on becoming a patrolman in Chicago. With the training that I received from the Marine Corps, I will have a better advantage than a guy coming in off the streets.

HN VAUGHN CONNELLY
CORPSMAN
Yes, it has. Because of my medical training and through a Navy program, I got a civilian certification as a registered emergency medical technician. This will enable me to be a paramedic or a member of a rescue squad after I get out of the service.

SGT. ROBERT WHITE
RADIO OPERATOR
No, because the sort of work I do in the Marine Corps is used primarily for tactical use instead of commercial work. If I wanted to work as a radio operator on the outside, I would have to be cross-trained in a variety of different communication techniques.

LCPL. DEBORAH BORDEAU
CONSOLIDATED PERSONNEL OFFICE, CAMP SMITH
Yes, if I have to be a secretary-typist when I get out, then it has. Although I won't be looking for a job as a secretary, I know it will be there as a last resort.

Double buck back

Secretary of the Treasury William E. Simon recently announced the reissuance of the $2 bill as a Federal Reserve Note, Series 1976. The new note will be issued on April 13, 1976 (Thomas Jefferson's birthday), and will feature an engraving of Thomas Jefferson from a portrait painted in the early 1800's by Gilbert Stuart. The back of the note will incorporate a rendition of the "The Signing of the Declaration of Independence" painted by John Trumbull during the post-Revolutionary War period, and which now hangs in the Trumbull Gallery at Yale University.

James Conlon, Director of the Treasury's Bureau of Engraving and Printing, estimated the new $2 note will result in a savings of $4-7 million per year in printing of $1 notes.

ONES DOMINATE

An average of 1.6 billion one-dollar notes are printed per year, which accounts for 55-60 per cent of the total volume of currency printed. The new $2 note is expected to replace about one-half of the "ones" in circulation over a period of the next several years. Conlon emphasized that the new note would be printed in sufficient volume, 400 million per year, to assure wide availability. This production volume is sixty times greater than the average annual production of the previous $2 U.S. note, last issued in 1966.

The two-dollar bill was first issued as U.S. currency in 1862, and in subsequent years the bills were issued under a variety of authorities as U.S. Notes, Silver Certificates, Treasury Notes, and National Currency, using a number of different portraits. A relatively small number of $2 notes were produced annually until August 10, 1966, when the Treasury Department announced that the printing of the bill would be discontinued.

In his announcement, Secretary Simon stated that "the American people are the key to the success of this program. The reissue of the $2 bill can add a new convenience to our currency system and help in reducing the cost of government."

"While the design of the new note is similar to that of the nation's bicentennial," the Secretary added, "it is not solely a bicentennial commemorative, but rather the two-dollar bill fulfills a permanent and practical role in the use of American currency. Additionally, as two-dollar bills gradually come to be substituted for ones, fewer pieces of currency will need to be carried by individuals and small cash transactions will be greatly facilitated."

SHOWS PRIDE

John Warner, Administrator of the American Revolution Bicentennial Administration, said, "With the reissue of the $2 bill bearing the portrait of Thomas Jefferson and the signing of the Declaration of Independence we continue to reaffirm our pride in this document—the touchstone for the definition of America. The circulation of this new bill during our 200th anniversary year of the signing of the Declaration of Independence will serve as a continuing reminder to all of the courageous men who gave us a legacy which we now pass on to Americans in our Century III."

The authority to determine the denomination and design of all U.S. currency is given to the Secretary of the Treasury through the Federal Reserve Act as passed by Congress in 1913.

MARINES HIT BEACH

Probably the hottest news, at least for overseas bound Marines, is the change in length of tours. All "Dependents restricted" and "All others" tours will last 12 months instead of the usual 13. Camp Butler, MCAS Futema, MCAS Iwakuni and all WestPac FMF commands are affected by the new DoD policy.

The beach behind the new Hale Koa military hotel will be the scene of Marine maneuvers Sunday at 2 p.m. The FMFPac Band and K-Bay Drum and Bugle will kick off a Bicentennial celebration fest with a flag pageant and assortment of instrumentals. The general public is invited.

FEWER LAWYERS

The nation's top court ruled recently that servicemen facing a Summary Court Martial have no constitutional right to a lawyer. The court also ruled that the military can now forbid distribution of literature which might tend to incite disloyalty among the troops.

Women toughen up during exercises

By Sgt. Dave Treadway

The otter is a playful little creature who likes nothing better than a pool of water and time to play in it. A group of ladies on the Air Station are sort of like the otter; they like the water.

The ladies are members of the Family Services Aquanastics class who frequent the Station pool for three hours each week to lose inches off their figure and firm up unused muscles.

According to Sue Cipparone, instructor for the exercise class, the program is designed to build a healthier you through the use of more than 100 routines, all performed in the water. This modern type of exercise is also highly recommended by doctors for pregnant women, polio victims and those with arthritis who find other types of exercise difficult.

Student reaction to the class has been outstanding. As Linda Smiley put it, "Aquanastics are great for complementing other exercises such as jogging or dry land exercises." June Marsden expressed it best when she said, "I can work out for longer periods of time in the water and I'm not as tired when I finish. It's really great."

Aquanastics is a young sport. It was developed on the Islands only about five years ago by Judy Mills and Dolly Kerns and included only a few exercises. The program grew rapidly and now includes all types of exercise designed to tone and firm lax muscles, thereby reducing inches. Before any new routine is added to the program it is medically researched to determine its effects on the body, both beneficial and harmful. The exercises aren't designed to reduce weight and will not accomplish this end unless, of course, the student is dieting.

Ladies need not know how to swim to enjoy the benefits of Aquanastics. All exercising is done in the shallow end of the pool at waist or shoulder depth.

With most forms of exercise, muscles become tense and soreness follows after extended activity. Not so with water exercises. "I'm not sore after exercising in the water like I would be if I jogged," explained Kathy Moorman, another Aquanastics student. This, Mrs. Cipparone attributed to water massage during the workouts.

COOL REASONS

Mrs. Moorman pointed out another reason for preferring water exercises. "I don't like to get all sweaty. The water keeps me cool and I don't get sweaty; therefore, I enjoy exercising more," she explained.

Classes are available through Family Services for $10 or $15 per month depending on whether students select 12 or eight lessons. The ladies meet on Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. at the Station pool and visitors are welcome to attend classes. "Those who come may bring their swimsuit and also join in the routine during a class," invited Mrs. Cipparone.

She has been teaching Aquanastics for about a year and served an internship of six months under a qualified instructor prior to that. She highly recommends it, not only as a muscle toner, but also to improve breathing and body alignment.

The ladies of the Aquanastics class like to play in the water but they do much more than just get wet.

Cottages offer 'fun in sun' for $11

By Sgt. Jim Wilson

Only the crashing of the surf and a gentle tropical breeze break the solitude of the Air Station beach cottages quietly tucked away on the far side of the runway.

Those who have discovered these "dream come true cottage hideaways", and their tranquil seclusion, only minutes from the hub of the military community, have found one of the most economical vacation spots in Hawaii.

Included on the list of good deals in lodging facilities must be the beach cottages at Bellows Air Force Station, and the Bachelor Officer Quarters suites here, which both rent for only $8 a day; and the K-Bay Hostess House which has two, three and four bedroom units from $10 to $12 a day. But the fully furnished beach cottages near Pyramid Rock are by far the most attractive, with 10 enlisted and two officer units for $11 a day.

The beach cottages which are available to military personnel and their house guests may be reserved for not more than seven days at a time. Reservations can be made up to 60 days in advance by Marines on the Island and Navy personnel at K-Bay. An $11 deposit is required to confirm reservations.

COMPLETELY EQUIPPED

"All you have to do is bring your food," explained Bob Porter, who manages the K-Bay lodging facilities. "Each cottage has two bedrooms, kitchen, pots and pans, dishes, linens and newly-constructed barbecue pits," he continued.

Outside the cottages, each unit has a lanai overlooking the Bay. There are also outside shower facilities and private beaches, which, according to Mr. Porter, "... are ideal for swimming, snorkeling or just relaxing in the sun."

Each unit is also equipped with television, and four of the cottages have been set aside for families with children. The safest beach area is adjacent to the family cottages.

"The view here is fantastic," remarked Mr. Elin Snodgrass. He and his wife came from Houston to spend a week with their son, Lance Corporal Richard Snodgrass, at the beach cottages.

Lt. Snodgrass, who works at the Chaplain's Office, couldn't agree more. "The view is spectacular," he said, "and it has given me an excellent opportunity to visit with my parents."

Located in the Hostess House complex, Special Services is able to fulfill quarters accommodation requests on a 24-hour basis. "We can always make some arrangements for quarters," remarked Mr. Porter, who is often tasked with finding a place at the last minute for incoming Marines and their families. However, it is best to have reservations in advance, especially for the beach cottages.

SELF SUSTAINING

"All revenue from the renting of accommodations goes back to the troops through the Special Services fund," added Mr. Porter. It's a good deal. For more information or reservations call 257-2409.

PEACEFUL HIDEAWAY — One of the dozen K-Bay beach cottages, nestled off the beaten path aboard the Air Station. Try this for a "get away from it all" weekend mini-vacation.

The $175 question...

"Should I let the professionals clean my quarters?"

By Sgt. Wigh Winklemann

"To clean or not to clean; that is the question." This paraphrase of Shakespeare typifies the dilemma faced by residents of government quarters as they prepare to leave K-Bay.

The residents have two choices: clean the quarters themselves, or contract a local "authorized" cleaning agency to do the work. Those who have the money to spend and elect to go the cleaning service route should be aware of the details involved in passing a housing inspection.

Authorized simply means that the individual has applied through the Housing Division for permission to clean government quarters. This does not mean that his work is guaranteed to pass the inspection," said Gary Wood, Director of Housing Division.

The Housing Division maintains an authorized housecleaning list as a convenience to residents, to insure some knowledge on the part of the cleaners in regards to cleaning standards, and to try to effect some compliance with security practices. The cleaner of government quarters must abide by the Family Housing Cleaning Guide which may be obtained from the Housing Office.

If you pay the cleaners after your final inspection and you fail, you may have to pay the government for that section of your house that failed the inspection and you could deduct that amount from what you owe the cleaner. The reason for this is to insure that it is cleaned for the next tenant.

PRICE RANGE

Prices charged range from $100-$250, depending on the circumstances. It all boils down to this: if you pay the cleaners in advance and fail the final inspection, you are out the money paid to the cleaners. For this reason residents are advised not to pay cleaners until the quarters have passed the final inspection. The resident should remember that any contract made between him and a cleaner is a private contract and is in no way connected with Housing Division.

"The resident has only one chance to pass an inspection. If there are minor discrepancies during the final inspection, another inspection will be conducted later that same day. Major discrepancies will result in charges for cleaning," continued Mr. Wood.

He went on to say that "this is done mainly to speed up the placement of new residents in government quarters because of financial hardship experienced by those on the waiting list due to delayed assignment caused by quarters not being cleaned on time."

"The Housing Division has charged residents as little as $6 and as much as $275 for cleaning," said Chief Housing Inspector Dave Sarilis.

The average charge is between $35 and $85 for cleaning that portion of the quarters that has failed the inspection. A four month survey was conducted by the Housing Director from July-October 1975, to find out if quarters cleaned by Housecleaning Services always pass the final inspection. The survey revealed that cleaners had a significantly lower failure rate than residents, possibly due to the fact that cleaners are more experienced.

Upon request inspectors will recommend housecleaners from the authorized list that they keep.

"All that recommendation means is that generally in the past the cleaners have proven reliable. The recommendation should not be taken as a guarantee that the cleaner will prove reliable in that particular instance," said Mr. Wood.

If a resident has any problems with the cleaners, he should bring it to the attention of the Housing Director.

FOR NEW RESIDENTS

Newly assigned residents will receive an orientation inspection within five working days of occupancy. The inspector will thoroughly inspect the quarters to insure that all repairs have been completed or are scheduled to be completed. Residents should give the inspector a list of damages that have been noted and insist that those damages be listed on the inspection report before they sign it.

Residents should realize that quarters will contain dead insects due to extermination by Pest Control agents who spray the quarters after they have been cleaned. Also, windows will get dirty and some dust will accumulate on the inside between occupancy but this does not mean that the quarters were left dirty.

"In my view, every resident has the right to expect a clean set of living quarters and should find, when he moves in, that all repairs have been or will be completed within 30 days of his occupancy," concluded Mr. Wood.

Unsatisfactory performance by Housing Inspectors such as discourtesy in attention to detail should be reported promptly to the Housing Director.

Any resident taking assignment to government quarters who feels as though the quarters are not properly cleaned should immediately contact Dave Sarilis at 257-2181.

Director bows out after 3 year tenure

By Sgt. Bill Jack

It won't be the same after today without Mike Lynch at the helm of the Athletic Department aboard the Air Station. Lynch is departing for newer horizons after serving as the Athletic Director for the past three years.

As director, he coordinated all intramural and varsity sports programs aboard the Station. This included the scheduling of events, providing equipment and contracting of officials from the civilian official association.

Now he has set his sights on becoming an administrator or instructor on the college-university level.

"When I arrived aboard the Station, I met a Gunnery Sergeant Wolf at the Provost Marshal's Office; he looked mean and spoke in the same manner and I had my doubts about this place," reminisced Lynch. "Since then, I've found Marines to be regular people."

Lynch felt the biggest accomplishment of the Athletic Department was the production of the Pineapple Bowl. This annual event brings football teams from Okinawa and California here to determine the championship within the Fleet Marine Force Pacific commands.

"In my opinion, the Pineapple Bowl is a definite morale booster for the players and their units when they travel thousands of miles to play here," voiced Lynch.

The intramural program is sound and allows

"The varsity athletic program is the best community relation program going for this command. The local community takes note of our teams and their performance," he added. "Look at the varsity basketball team and the boxing team. They compete against their civilian counterparts and give a favorable impression of the personnel aboard this base. It also provides college scouts an opportunity to see our players perform against college teams. All in all, it's good for the individual, the unit and the Marine Corps."

He expressed a desire to see the athletic programs aboard the base continue to grow and expand and be given the support they deserve.

"The big problem has always been the lack of support from unit commanders," said the former director. "The members of their commands want to participate in various sports, but some commanders snub sport activities because they supposedly interfere with the mission of the unit."

"It is a case of commanders wanting to see the personnel excel and win in these events but they begrudge the time and man-hours needed for training for these events."

"I have enjoyed my stay in Hawaii and the position I've held during the past three years. One day, I'll return for a visit to see old friends and enjoy Hawaii as a tourist."

Reservoir opens for lucky anglers

The State Department of Land and Natural Resources and the Honolulu Board of Water Supply announced today that the Nuuanu Reservoir No. 4 will be open to weekend fishing for channel catfish beginning Saturday, May 8, 1976. Thereafter, fishing will be permitted on consecutive weekends (Saturday-Sunday only) until all anglers with fishing permits have been accommodated.

Prospective anglers must apply for fishing permits which are now available at the main office of the Division of Fish and Game, 1151 Punchbowl Street, Room 330, and at various sporting goods stores which are licensed agents for the Division. The deadline for submitting applications is 4:00 p.m. on Thursday, April 15, 1976. A public drawing will then be held at noon on April 20 at the main office of the Division of Fish and Game to determine each applicant's fishing date and time. All permittees, except those 8 years or younger who are accompanied by a licensed adult, are required to obtain a valid 1975-76 freshwater fishing license prior to fishing and have the license in their possession while fishing. Each fishing day will be divided into two 5-hour fishing periods: morning, 6:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.; afternoon, 12:30 p.m. to 5:30 p.m. Any channel catfish 16 inches or larger must be kept by the angler and be counted toward his bag. The bag limit will be 2 channel catfish per licensed angler.

Waipahu Bicycle and Sporting Goods is donating rod-and-reel outfits which will be awarded for the heaviest channel catfish caught in various categories such as fishermen age groups, heaviest fish for a weekend and heaviest fish overall. The rules and details for this contest will be passed on to all applicants as they enter the reservoir.

Ocean training is held on weekends and the course leads to NAUI, PADI and YMCA certification.

Ace artists nab fourth title

By Sgt. Bill Jack

Winning has become a cinch for the Hawaii Marine All-Star Volleyball team. After defeating the Western Pacific All-Stars in a best-of-three set series March 23 and 24 for the FMFPac Regional Volleyball Championship, the HawMar team retains the title for the fourth consecutive year.

Coached by Dick Dodge, the Camp Smith based team had little or no trouble defending their title against the Far East Marine team.

In the first night of action played at K-Bay's Hangar 103, the Hawaii All-Stars swept the first set in four games with scores of 15-7, 15-9, 15-12 and 15-7.

It was the second game of that set before the Far East team showed any potential as they leaped to an early lead. However, it was to no avail, as the Hawaii team soon tied the score at 8-8 and went on to win with a final score of 15-9.

In the second night of action, the Camp Smith based team took the set after losing one game with final scores of 15-3, 15-12, 15-13 and 15-8. The WestPac team won the third game of the night with a score of 15-9.

Ron Jones, Headquarters and Service Battalion, Camp Smith, was the outstanding player for the Hawaii Marine team. Four members of the Far East team were selected to join the Hawaii All-Stars for the upcoming All-Marine tourney to be held Sunday through Friday at Marine Corps Base, Quantico, Va. The Hawaii Marines will battle to defend their title as the 1975 All-Marine champs.

Commentary

Chaos hits sports scene

By Sgt. Bill Jack

If this week's lack of communication between coaches and the Athletic Director is indicative of the upcoming sports programs for the Air Station, then the position of Athletic Director vacated by Mike Lynch should be filled immediately.

Let me explain. The intramural basketball season was originally scheduled to end Feb. 26 but, due to the training exercise on the Big Island, the season was extended to the end of March.

The play-offs were to begin Monday night with Provisional Service Battalion battling Naval Magazine, Luualalei and a contest between 2d Battalion, Third Marines and H&MS-24 or First Battalion, Third Marines.

The problem was a second place tie between H&MS-24 and 1/3 in Division One. Both teams sported a 13 win and three loss record. Naturally, there had to be a play-off and the elimination of that obstacle should have been no problem at all. This was not the case and, for a while, it appeared that no one, coaches or athletic staff, could say when the tiebreaker would be played.

The game was originally scheduled for Monday night, but H&MS-24 had one remaining game with PSB, which was supposed to have been played Saturday at Hangar 103. The reason the game wasn't played was because the gymnasium attendants closed the gym that afternoon and didn't open its doors again until Monday. Apparently they didn't know of a game between PSB and H&MS-24.

H&MS-24 and 1/3 finally got together Tuesday night and H&MS-24 went on to defeat the Third Marines' team, 69-60.

The play-offs got under way Wednesday night and, needless to say, the delay in the play-off created problems for the sports page. However, photos and story of the play-off will be in next week's edition of the Hawaii Marine.

It is clear that there was a breakdown in communication somewhere and that a replacement for the Athletic Director's position should be filled immediately. Mike Lynch is departing the Air Station after serving as Director for the past three years. It hasn't been all fun and games for either Lynch or for those he came in contact with, but there was some semblance of order.

The position he vacates today is a hot seat, to say the least, and leaving it vacant for any period longer than 24 hours is an open invitation to chaos and confusion. This week might only be the beginning.

Sports Spotline

KARATE TRYOUTS - Tryouts for all amateur martial arts enthusiasts, regardless of style, will be held at the FSC auditorium, 9 a.m. tomorrow, for the upcoming Full Contact Martial Arts Tournament to be held 7 p.m., April 21, at the Station Gym, Hangar 103. All interested persons should contact GySgt. Richard Raymond, 257-3689 or 3561.

SOFTBALL SEASON - The slow-pitch softball season begins Apr. 12. Game schedules will be distributed by the Athletic Dept. next week.

RACKETBALL - The racketball season begins Apr. 12. A meeting of potential players will be held Monday in the Family Theatre. For more info, contact the Athletic Dept. at 257-3135.

FISHING REPORT - The Kahuna Kai had engine trouble for two days last weekend but Sunday was good for small Aku. Monday's catch was a 50-pound Bull Mahimahi and a 33-pound Mahimahi. The Mahi are running good on the banks, but take your seasick pills because the water is rough.

HQMC revises port call procedures

WASHINGTON - Overseas bound Marines, with few exceptions, are no longer being detached from their stateside duty stations until they have a confirmed port call date under new port call procedures.

The HQMC directed move, issued in ALMAR 144, is a measure aimed at correcting what officials here say is an excessively high no-show rate among Marines with confirmed Military Airlift Command (MAC) flights. One transportation official here stated that on some MAC flights, 16 to 20 per cent of the Marines with confirmed space have failed to show. Only a very few of these "no-shows" listed valid reasons.

Under the recently revised port call procedures Marines will not be detached from their duty station without a firm port call date except in verified emergency situations approved by HQMC, Marine Corps Movement Coordination Center or authorized commands.

Previously, under optional procedures, Marines headed overseas could be detached without a port call confirmation and ordered to intermediate commands to await further transportation instructions.

Now, all Marines are being made fully aware of their responsibility to report for MAC flights as scheduled, as well as the possible penalty for failing to comply with port call instructions.

Such notification is, primarily, executed in the form of a paragraph now included in all overseas PCS orders with detaching endorsements that identify port call arrangements. Included in the paragraph is a reminder that: "failure to comply with port call instructions, except for emergencies or situations beyond your control, is considered a refusal to execute travel orders and may subject you to disciplinary action."

Such disciplinary action may result from charges brought under any or all of Articles 85 (desertion), 86 (unauthorized absence) and 87 (missing movement) of the Uniform

Code of Military Justice, an officer with the Judge Advocate Division at HQMC pointed out.

The paragraph also instructs the Marine that he has the responsibility of notifying the MCMCC in the event his orders are modified or cancelled; or, if an emergency or other circumstances beyond his control make it necessary to request modification or cancellation of his port call.

In addition to the written notification contained in the Marine's travel orders, HQMC has directed commands to furnish port call instructions and transportation procurement documents before the Marine is detached. (An exception would be when an emergency situation dictates detachment prior to the receipt of port call confirmation.)
