Medical guidelines established for Agent Orange examinations

HQMC — Vietnam veterans on active duty who are concerned about possible exposure to Herbicide (Agent) Orange can now more easily take a special-medical exam and be included in the Veterans Administration Agent Orange Registry. The herbicide was used as a defoliant to improve visibility in dense jungles and to deny cover and crops to the enemy. Used extensively in Vietnam from 1965-70, the herbicide was believed to be HQMC - Vietnam veterans on extensively in Vietnam from 1900-70, the herbicide was believed to be harmless to humans. In acute doses, such as a result of an industrial manufacturing accident, the herbicide can. adversely effect the skin, and possibly the liver and nervous system. In animal studies, the herbicide acted in some cases as a promoter or of cancer and congenital defects. To date, these effects have not been confirmed in humans Procedures for the special Procedures for the special medical exam were recently outlined in a memorandum from the Assistant Secretary of Defense for Health Affairs. Marines should contact the local medical-facility for the exam and information about the Registry.

Administration forms new office

The Veterans Administration has formed a new office to deal exclusively with matters involving Agent Orange, and its possible effects on Vietnam veterans. Agent Orange was a herbicide used in Vietnam to kill unwanted vegetation and to defoliate trees which otherwise would have provided cover from which the enemy could attack American personnel. The VA is leading the way in resolving the Agent Orange question through medical and scientific research projects.

"There is a need for self-defense for women," said Carole Pajari, Director of the Armed Services YMCA Outreach. "Husbands are deployed and a lot of women are frightened. They want to know Women are trightened. They want to know how to take care of themselves." An attack on a woman can be as serious as an attempted murder or rape, or as subtle as a friendly smile or an offer to help. "That's why it's important to become aware of danger signals, to increase awareness of surroundings, to gain a working knowledge of defensive tactics, and to build self-confidence," Pajari said.

Pajari said. Recognizing this need, ASYMCA Outreach developed a 10-week self-defense course for women. Though the course began Monday, late registration will be generated Character balances will be accepted. Classes are held each Monday from 9-11 a.m. in Building 455. "The course is a way to develop confidence and competence," said Pajari. "It teaches the woman to rely on herself in case of an assault. It's all part of a woman taking charge of her life when she is left on her own. She needs to know she can take care of herself."

Ginger Russell Reznik, instructor for the course, is recognized as one of the foremost women in the United States on self-defense. She has been involved in "victim prevention" for 14 years, and is presently employed with the ASYMCA Outreach.

"Most police departments and rape crisis centers deal with the victims and assailants after the crime," Reznik said. "We deal with them before, during, and after the crime. Women are recognizing the need and necessity of self-defense. "A lot of women who took our course have gone into several areas of police work. Others have gone on to save their lives. The classes will deal with the mental aspects of self-defense as well as the

A traffic jam during rush-hour is avoided like the plague by most drivers; however, many Marines become ensnarled in another type of traffic jam — the check-cashing traffic jam at the bank. The direct deposit system was designed to alleviate the problem, but only 12 percent of the people at the air station use the system. Why?

Major Priscilla Stewart, station disbursing officer, believes that many people are unaware of how the program works.

"I think a lot of the junior troops don't use direct deposit because they don't have checking accounts" said formation accounts," said Stewart. "However, the deposit does not have to go into a checking account. It can go into a savings account at any bank or credit union and can be withdrawn as know your paycheck is in the bank for you. It's also good security not to carry too much money with you because of theft," said Stewart.

To start direct deposit, a Marine should notify his bank or the credit union. A standard form must be completed by the Marine. The bank completes their portion of the form and forwards it to Marine Corps Finance Center, Kansas City, Mo. "After that it takes at least two paydays for the direct deposit to start," said Stewart. If a Marine is transferring or getting discharged and wishes to stop direct deposit, the disbursing office needs to be notified at least 30 days in advance.

Millions of Asian and Pacific Americans have joined the ranks of the armed forces to uphold the guarantees of this country's constitution.

Constitution, To focus in depth on the ancestry of Asian and Pacific Americans would be a tumultuous task because Asia includes more than 40 countries, and thousands of islands scattered throughout the Pacific account for the Pacific Americans. In the text that follows four Asian and Pacific American service members of the air station are highlighted.

Captain Janice Closson, an aircraft defense control officer with Marine Air Control Squadron-2, was born on Oahu. She said she never called Hawaii home because she left when she was five years old, and had not returned until two years ago upon assignment to the squadron

At that time Closson was one of the first women officers in her field. Because of that she was afraid of not being accepted, however; she said she easily integrated into the squadron. Manzino is the supervisor of the clinic's laboratory. He considers himself to be one of the luckiest people in the Navy. "The Navy has given me everything I've wanted," he said.

WAIKIKI, Hawaii - Seven is considered a lucky number, and Lanai High School can prove that it certainly is. Lanai, from the small neighborisland that bears the same name, won the State Youth Physical Fitness Contest at Kapiolani Park here, for the seventh consecutive year. This year the school's boys' and prist teams combined for 4,222 points. Randy Fernandez of Lanai, was tops in the boys' division, netting 479 points, while Nelinia Cabiles of Lanai's girls' team grabbed 400 points to win the girls' honors. Following the past years' traditions, the Aloha Detachment traditions, the Aloha Detachment of the Marine Corps League and McDonald's of Hawaii co-sponsored the contest. The difference this year was that McDonald's contributed 25 cents to the Special Olympics of Hawaii for every point scored in the YPF. In the past, McDonald's awarded scholarshing to the winning scholarships to the winning school. At the conclusion of the event, Fancy footwork by the Kaneohe Marine Corps Air Station Varsity Soccer Team, May 9, put them in first place in the Hawaii Ranger Soccer Leavie occer League. Playing hard against Wahiawa

Soccer Team at Waialae Iki Field in Honolulu, the Kaneohe Marines took the first-place honors with a 3-2 victory. Staff Sergeant Junior Prescod scored the first goal for the Kaneohe Marines within the first five minutes of the game. It was closely followed by another goal from Corporal Royal Rose. Wahiawa came back with their first goal during the last 10 minutes of the first half, leaving the score 2-1 at the half.

During the first 10 minutes of he second half, Wahiawa scored the a for the last time, tying the game at 2.2

It was a hard, rough game, with both teams sweating under the hot sun as they tried to break the tie. With 12 minutes left in the game, Sergeant Gary Remy scored on a penalty kick awarded to the Marines, finishing the game with a score of 3-2.

"This is the first time the Marines have clinched the title," said Coach Paul Letteer. "The Marines have had three chances in the past to win first place, but they kept going on floats. This year I was able to keep the guys

Nani Muna Montessori School, Kaneohe, in conjunction with the Montessori World Educational Institute in California, is scheduling a series of three workshops for teachers/parents/

MCC offers care

Working parents, single-parent families, and children will welcome the opportunity to participate in MCC's child care and recreational services. Summer Adventure 1982 offers services at Kaahumanu School. Kuhio School, and Lunalilo School.

These all-day, all-summer programs focus on learning and appreci-ating the diverse cultures of Hawaii through excursions several times a week, crafts, games, swimming, dance, tennis and other exciting activities.

Fees are for the eightweek program beginning June 10, with additional services available through Aug. 19. educators

Interested persons may register for each workshop individually or for the entire series to be held from Monday through Friday, from 9 a.m. until 4 p.m. at Nani Muna Montessori School, 45-175 Waikalua Road, Kaneohe: July 12 to July 16 — Sensorial and Practical Cultural Subjects. The cost of the series is $300. Each weekly work-shop will cost $100. Optional university credits will be available. Weekly workshops are three units of university credit each. The workshops will be taught by Dr. Robert L. Blodget and his wife, Mrs. Marilyn Blodget. Dr. Blodget is president of the Montessori World Educational Institute and Associate Professor of Child Development at California Polytechnic State University.

Dr. Blodget taught in public schools for seven years and has taught every age level. Dr. Blodget ran a lab school at elementary level at Cal Poly in California. He was trained in

Mid Pacific sets sports program

This summer will mark the 19th year for Mid-Pacific's Summer Sports Program. Mike Ryzow again will be the director, with Marika Waidelich as orasistaet director assistant director.

Classes in pool swim-ming for tiny tots (beginning with age 3) up through the teens will be offered for five two-week sessions, Classes for adults can also be arranged. Small 40-minute classes are-taught by well-qualified teachers who create a positive learning atmosphere and promote self-confidence. The beach safety and sports program has in the past several years proved extremely popular. Classes in ocean safety and snorkeling, body surfing, boogie-boarding and board surfing are offered.

In this Island com-munity it is very impor-tant to learn personal safety and survival skills and to become knowledge-able about rip currents, waves, tides and sea life. Children should be taught early about beach safety because of the high accident and drowning rate at our beaches.

Classes in tennis will also be offered under direction of Rhoda James. For information, call 941-3024 for swimming, gymnastics and ocean sports. Tennis information may be obtained at 947-3416.

He was originally introduced to the Montes-sori Method of Education by Nancy Rambusch, founder of the American Montessori Society, while co-administering a pro-gram for children with Ms. Rambusch in 1973.

His training was furthered with Miss Margaret Homfray, one of the principals of the St. Nicholas Training Centre for the Montessori Method of Education.

Mrs. Blodget has taught in the public school system, taught under the direction of Ms. Ram-busch and also worked closely with Miss Homfray. Nani Muna Montessori School's Day Care Program will run throughout the summer with the summer fun program in progress from June 14 to July 30.

Music: It need not be a bore

Ever wish you con-tinued the piano lessons you started as a child?

Don't be too hard on yourself; part of the problem might have been the boring approach to teaching, so typical until recently.

Fortunately, things have changed and the Honolulu Music Institute is here to show you and your children how you can learn and love music.

Through contemporary group piano, students achieve total music literacy, encompassing the skills of sightreading, composition, improvisation, transposition and performance.

All this is accomplished in small group lessons of students matched by ability and maturity. The emphasis is on sharing and active participation in learning. Susan Rudosky is director of the H.M.I. and has been teaching for 10 years.
